Motley & Mac Presents

Best of fringe Variety: Alchemia

Following its indisputable popularity in Adelaide Fringe Festival 2012 & 2013, Best of Fringe: Variety is returning to Adelaide, with a twist. As the first independent daily live show at the Fringe to showcase ALL different types of entertainment, it has been an unbridled success. The concept has been FOUR quality guest acts in FOUR completely different genres, with a different lineup each night, offering the greatest selection of entertainment on stage for the Fringe-goer who is overwhelmed by choice in a bloated Fringe program. This year, as the title "Alchemia" suggests, is all about a change. Not only is it the new theme, but it also refers to changes in the show. Rather than having all guest acts, we will now have a mixture of guests and regular acts every night, allowing the show to be more choreographed and slick, which should work even better with our new better lighting, effects, and cabaret style venue.

As usual the show will continue to be hosted and produced by two established comedians and variety artists... Tim Motley, USA (★★★★ "Genuinely funny" -CBC) and Patrick McCullagh, IRE ("Don't miss him" -The Advertiser).

Playing in the new cabaret venue, La Petite Grande in the hub of Gluttony, Best of Fringe Variety: Alchemia will continue to offer the most variety of quality entertainment at the festival, every night but Mondays. There will be burlesque dancers, puppeteers, magicians, singers, acrobats, jugglers, clowns, comedians, tap dancers, strong men, musicians, hula hoopers, bubble sculptors, and anything else of quality we can get our hands on on any given night. Previous acts include Sammy J, Randy, Mickey D, Greg Fleet, Tom Flanagan & Dave Callan.
